Frozen Black Beans

Serves 8–10 (as a side)

Ingredients

- Dried Black Beans – 12 oz
- Yellow Onion – 1, peeled and halved
- Garlic Cloves – 2, peeled
- Ginger – 1 knob, peeled
- Jalapeño Pepper – 1, deseeded
- Water – enough to cover the beans
- Salt and Pepper – to taste

Notes

- Seasoning: Hold the salt until the beans are fully cooked. Seasoning early makes the finished salt level much harder to judge.
- Texture: Blend before freezing for a refried-style base, or freeze the beans whole to keep your options open later.

Frozen Black Beans

Instructions

1. Load the Pressure Cooker
   Add the beans, onion, garlic, ginger, and jalapeño to a pressure cooker and cover completely with water.

2. Pressure Cook
   Cook for 18 minutes, or until the beans are fork tender. Leave them unseasoned at this stage.

3. Release the Steam
   Once the beans are fully cooked, release the steam from the pressure cooker before opening the lid.

4. Season and Blend
   Add salt and pepper to taste, then blend lightly with an immersion blender, leaving plenty of whole beans behind.

5. Adjust Thickness
   If the beans are thinner than you like, return the pot to the burner and reduce until they reach your preferred thickness.

6. Portion and Freeze
   Ladle into silicone molds and freeze overnight.
